COUNTY VALUES $70,822 HIGHER

TOTAL ASSESSMENT 1914 GIVES $369,379 REALTY INCREASE.

PERSONAL PROPERTY LESS BY $298,557

Complete 1914 Abstract Gives Nodaway's Wealth at $15,442,789—Represents Fourth of Real Value.

Nodaway county real estate and personal property was assessed at $15,442,789 or $70,822 more than in 1913, according to a complete abstract, finished this morning by County Clerk Fred J. Yeomans and Deputy Calvin Burch. The real estate values are increased by $369,379 over 1913, but the personal decrease of $298,557 pulled the total county increase down considerably. The land is valued at an average of $17.37.

But the assessment figures, according to county officials, generally average but about one-fourth of the real values, so that where land is assessed at $15 an acre it would in reality bring $60 or more. The total real estate assessment in 1914 was $11,484,241, compared to $11,114,562 in 1913, while the personal holdings went from $4,257,105 in 1913 down to $3,958,548 last year.

BUILD NEW BRIDGE FRATERNITY IN GOD

STEEL SPAN PROVIDED ACROSS NODAWAY CHANNEL.

THE REV. CHARLES FINCH SPEAKS OF UNIVERSAL BROTHERHOOD.

TO FINISH IN 60 DAYS

'NO GULFS IN CHURCH'

WHI Rush Work—Court Decides to Let Present "Bent" Structure Across Old Bed Remain.

Evangelist Says All Christians Are Equal—Will Hold Service for Men Tomorrow Afternoon.

A new 108-foot span steel bridge to cost $2,642 will replace, within sixty days, the present temporary wooden trestle which spans the new channel of the Nodaway river between Clearmont and Elmo. This decision was made this afternoon by the county court at a special meeting. The original plan to transfer the present steel bridge across the old river bed to the new channel, and build a wooden trestle across the old bed was abandoned because of the large volume of water which still flows that way.

The new county bridge will be built by the Decatur Bridge company of Kansas City. Work will begin as soon as material can be placed on the ground, according to George D. Campbell, western contracting agent of the Decatur company, who was present today.

"It is our intention to complete the structure just as quickly as possible, regardless of a forfeit clause," said Mr. Campbell. "It is only because work of this kind is slack at this time of year, and many of our workmen are idle or are working part time that we can make the bid as cheaply as we have."

The contract provides that everything shall be furnished by the bridge company, including all labor and material. It provides for an 18-foot steel approach and a 40-foot earth embankment in addition at each end. The bridge is to be fourteen feet wide and of best grade of bridge steel and flooring.

Three other bids for erecting a new bridge were submitted this afternoon. One was but $6 below the accepted bid. They were: Standard Bridge company, Omaha, $2,659; Kansas City Bridge company, Kansas City, $2,699; Midland Bridge company, Kansas City, $2,900.

The present wooden trestle across the new channel near Elmo is now out of commission, having been washed partly out by the floods of this week. Another county structure across the channel north of Clearmont can be repaired, according to J. M. Blackford, presiding judge of the county court.

Five bids were submitted this morning to the county court on the proposition to transfer the steel bridge, now over the old Nodaway river bed, to the new channel, and change the present wooden trestle over the ditch to the old river channel. The bid of the lowest bidder, the Red Oak Bridge and Iron works of Red Oak, Ia., was declared by Judge Blackford to be reasonable. It was deemed advisable, however, to let the present steel bridge remain and build a new one over the new ditch.

Bids also were submitted by Charles Hollenshead, Pickering; Midland Bridge company, Kansas City; Decatur Bridge company, and the Kansas City Bridge company.

The steel bridge now under construction across the Nodaway river where the counties of Nodaway, Holt and Andrew converge, is the only other county bridge now under way. Work on it has been delayed for a week or more on account of the high water in the Nodaway at present. In fact, progress on the construction of the tri-county structure has been extremely slow at all times.

Unless the physician properly writes the prescription the druggist must refuse to fill it. A severe penalty is named for the person writing or filling unlawfully a prescription for drugs.

OCEAN TO OCEAN BY 'PHONE

Direct Conversation New York and Washington to 'Frisco Marks New Feat
The most remarkable feat in the history of telephony probably was accomplished a few days ago, in the opinion of W. E. Jones, traffic manager of the Hanamo Telephone company, when a direct conversation was held from New York to San Francisco and from Washington to 'Frisco.

One man, not himself an electrician nor telephone expert, but a mere mathematician, alone in the Rockies studied out an improvement in wire transmission, which made possible this recently accomplished feat, according to Mr. Jones. That man was the one who invented the double circuit system and its means of holding the sound waves at a standard throughout the transmission.

Some idea of the immense amount of work and expenses necessary to bring about such a feat is explained in statistics furnished by Mr. Jones. It shows that the line proper is 3,370 miles long but that 13,600 miles of hard-drawn copper wire were used to form the double physical circuit, necessary to maintain the transmission sounds at a certain strength.

A total of 130,000 poles were used through the swamps, deserts and over mountains and plains on which to string the 13,600 miles of wire, weighing 2,960 tons. Officials of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, which constructed the trans-continental line, say the line will be ready for commercial use by March 1.

The rates have been estimated at $20.70 for the first three minutes and $6.75 for each additional minute. It is further estimated that when a circuit is carrying a message from New York to San Francisco about $2,000,000 worth of apparatus will be in exclusive use.

In speaking of the feat, an official of the company said:

"It was not a concrete problem that confronted our engineers. It was a problem for a lone inventor working in an attic. It was literally a problem to be attacked all along the line. Without the expenditure of millions of dollars and concentration of effort the telephone as it exists could not have been devoted.

EXHIBIT OF WIDE RANGE.

Missouri's Offering at 'Frisco Fair Includes Education, Arts and Industries.

Missouri's exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco, which opens today, will cover education, mining, live stock, agriculture, horticulture and fine arts, it was announced yesterday by the commission.

In the palace of education the state will have an exhibit showing by mechanical devices the interesting system of decentralized education. A specially prepared map, covering 80 square feet of space, will be used to show the progress of many of the leading high schools of the state during the last twenty years. Schools and college life will be illustrated in moving pictures.

A library of old and new books by Missouri authors will be another feature of the educational exhibit. This will be in the Missouri building.

In the palace of horticulture, Missouri's display of fine fruit will be a rival to California's. Connected with this exhibit will be a display shown in jars, including all kinds of fruits, flowers, nuts and vegetables.

Samples of Missouri soils from every county in the state also will be shown in this exhibit.

In the palace of mines Missouri will occupy a prominent place with the display of lead, zinc, iron, coal and other minerals.

Missouri live stock and the wonderful Missouri hen will be the feature exhibit. Specimens of the state's splendid saddle horse, the Missouri mule, fine beef and dairy cattle and other animals that are adding to the wealth of the state will be shown.

Missouri's building and exhibits will cost the state about $150,000, and the value to the people of the state, from an advertising standpoint, may be estimated at millions.

The Missouri state commissioners having in charge the Missouri building and exhibits, who will look after the state's affairs at the exposition are John L. McNatt of Aurora, W. D. Smith of Princeton, J. A. Cunningham of Cathersville, W. A. Dallmyer of Jefferson City and Norman M. Vaughn of St. Louis.

To Manage Fowl Exhibits.

T. E. Quisenberry director of the state poultry experiment station at Mountain Grove, has been chosen as manager of the poultry department of the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco. Mr. Quisenberry is recognized as one of the foremost poultry authorities in the country, having held high offices in state poultry organizations and shows for a number of years. His appointment as head of the poultry department came to him unsolicited.

The rooms were fancifully decorated with flags in various sizes, and the table was centered with a tall vase of red carnations. The colonial idea was followed out in detail. The menu was served at 6:30 o'clock, with plates laid for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lyle Finch, Mr. Henry O. Frits of Chicago, Mrs. Harold Staples, Miss Nina Bent, Miss Veila Booth, Miss Olivette Godsey, Miss Key, Miss Willey, Miss Roberts and Miss Roelofson.

Colonial Party.

"Memories of Ye Olden Times" was the program of a charming and artistically arranged affair given last night at the library rooms of the Normal by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The rooms were handsomely decorated with flags and flowers. Miss Beulah Brunner, chapter regent, and the other officers of the chapter received the guests. Across the north end of the main room a curtain had been drawn and a stage built. In front of the stage was a huge frame made of flags, and in this frame the various pictures of the program were set. The opening number was the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" by the chapter members. The pictures represented the periods from the Puritan days to the present. The first, "A Puritan Girl," was posed in costume by Miss Mildred Robinson, who sang "Dear Evelina." The second was of the colonial period, posed by Misses Jeanette and Julia Tate, Miss Cecile Benight, Miss Geneva Willey, Miss May Corwin, Miss Allie Jean Fraser, Miss Glen Hotchkiss and Miss Katherine Carpenter, gowned in colonial costume and with powdered hair. After the posing the young women stepped from the frame and danced the minuet. The next number was two songs by Mrs. W. M. Westbrook, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" and "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party." The fifth period was that on 1800, taken by Miss Mildred Miller and Miss Marjorie Willey, dressed in Empire costume. They danced the heel and toe polka after the poses.

The 1830 period was represented by Mrs. D. J. Thomas and Miss Ruth Montgomery. Each was gowned in the full skirt, tight bodice and poke bonnet of the period, and the gavotte was the dance of that day, which Mrs. Thomas and Miss Montgomery danced. Mrs. F. P. Robinson followed with two old songs, "Juanita" and "Love's Old Sweetheart."

The 1915 "Our Modern Girls" was staged by Mrs. William Montgomery and Miss Dora Carpenter, wearing elaborate gowns of the most chic style, and who danced the hesitation. The tenth number was the dancing of the Virginia reel by all the costumed characters. In conclusion of the program Miss Katherine Helwig posed as "Liberty." A victory program was given for the dances by Miss Grace Sturm. About 130 guests were entertained. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. C. C. Banks of Lansford, N. D., who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fayette Bellows; Mrs. M. E. Ummethun of Kansas City, a member of the chapter, who is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. E. G. FRATERNITY IN GOD

came to his house. When Christ goes home with us and the sinner opens the door and bids him enter, only then is the life changed. If any man be in Christ he is a new creature. Universalism teaches that one does not have to be a new creature and that there are no gulfs that divide. Christ bridges the gulfs from this world to the next and to pass over through Him is to come in touch with His cleansing blood, which can be applied only through faith and obedience.

No Need of Universalism.

"Said an old Quaker to a Universalist preacher who desired to leave an appointment for a return sermon, 'If what thou hast said be true, we don't need thee; if false, we don't want thee.' If all men are to be saved anyhow, irrespective of character or life, why make a great ado about nothing?" After hearing a discourse by a Universalist, in which he declared all men are to be saved, an old man arose in the audience and read from the last chapter of Revelations:

"Blessed are they who do His commandments that they may enter in through the gates into the city, for without are sorcerers and fornicators and murderers and idolaters, and every one that loveth and maketh a lie." Said the aged man: "In the last chapter of the last book in the last verses of the Bible God makes a division and puts evil men out of the city of God, and I would like to see you at any other man put them in again." The argument is conclusive. Let no man be lulled into false security by such a specious plea."

A Correction.

The item appearing in the Sunrise correspondence in the Tribune, February 2, and also in The Democrat-Foreum, referring to an organization in that community known as the "Bully Idea" is entirely without foundation and was given to the Sunrise correspondent by some person who took advantage of the confidence of the correspondent. It is a kind of underhand work that meets the strongest condemnation of all good people, and the author has plenty of reason to be heartily ashamed of himself.

(Signed) ALBERT NEIDEL.

All newspapers have such cases as this to contend with, and so far no editor has ever found a thoroughly satisfactory way of expressing the true estimate of a person who considers such courtesy a joke. When we are taken advantage of, as in the above case, and print an item sent in by a person whom we judge to be "on the square" we are glad to make the correction when the case proves to have been otherwise.

BAR DEAD HOG SHIPMENTSGovernment Rules Stockmen Must Not Send "Soap" Swine on Railroads.

Burlington railroad agents are in receipt of a circular from the division superintendent announcing a recent ruling of the inspector in charge of the bureau of animal industry at St. Joseph. This ruling pertains to the custom of loading dead hogs on cars including them in stock shipments.

Frequently hogs die after they are brought to town, if they were sick before starting, and it has been customary to load them on the cars, to be disposed of in St. Joseph for soap.

However several cases of hog cholera have been brought into St. Joseph stock yards recently and for this reason, the inspector has ruled that dead hogs cannot be unloaded there, but must be burned or buried by the railroad company at their own expense.

Artillery Batteries on Both Sides of Golden Gate Acclaim Opening of Panama-Pacific International Exposition—Splendid Ceremonies Attend.

San Francisco, Feb. 20.—Dawn today in San Francisco was acclaimed by sounds of artillery batteries on both sides of the Golden Gate, and from the warships at anchor in the bay. Five minutes later twenty drum corps rolled and swaggered through the streets, shrilling to all the town a call to rise and welcome the opening of the Panama-Pacific International exposition.

There was a parade almost without spectators. By tens of thousands, in societies and fraternities, and various brotherhoods and business organizations, the people were in line. At the California building they met the president and vice president of the exposition, the directors, the national exposition commission, the woman's board, representatives of the army and navy and others.

These marched down the Avenue of Palms, escorted by exposition guards, United States marines and the exposition band, to the temporary grandstand erected in front of the Tower of Jewels.

As they took their places, Governor Johnson of California, Mayor Rolph of San Francisco and officers of the state and city entered the grounds. The citizens assembled in the concourse, while the governor, the mayor, and their parties passed through a lane of soldiers and marines to the stand where the president and directors of the exposition received them.

Five minutes later the dedicatory ceremonies began. Invocations and a benediction were pronounced by clergymen representing the Roman Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths. Addresses were delivered by President Moore, Secretary Lane of the department of the interior, representing President Wilson; Governor Johnson, Mayor Rolph and others.

Hands Moore Scroll.

William Crocker, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, formally announced to President Moore that the exposition was opened, at the same time presenting to him a gold scroll commemorating the occasion.

After the exercises had been concluded President Moore called President Wilson in Washington on a long distance telephone line at noon and notified him that the exposition awaited his touch to be opened. The president touched a button, a wireless spark flashed through the air across the continent and on its receipt the national colors were raised, salutes were given, the fountain of energy leaped up with all the whistles in the city blowing, and the main door of the Palace of Machinery was swung open, disclosing the exhibits in motion.

Free Automobiles and Free Trips

SOME newspapers in order to build up a "quantity" circulation resort to the use of "popularity" contests in which free automobiles, gold watches, and various trips are offered as prizes.

The newspaper publisher who listens to the alluring story of the professional contest promoter, overlooks the main element in newspaper circulation.

Quantity circulation is of no particular value to either publisher or newspaper advertiser. The reason for this is that "quantity" circulation when not backed up by quality is of no particular value to anybody.

Contest circulation violates all the principles of salesmanship. The contestant who solicits subscribers for a newspaper in order that she may win a prize of some kind, does the publication no good because she does not sell the paper on its merits as a paper. She takes subscriptions from persons who care nothing about the paper. Such persons usually have the paper sent to friends or relatives in distant communities who care nothing about it or the news or advertisements it may contain.

If a publication has any merit at all, why does it not sell itself as a newspaper? The newspaper that holds a contest once is pretty certain to be compelled to hold another.

Permanent subscribers are the life of a newspaper. Contest subscribers never stick. They paid their money to help somebody win a trip to Halifax or some other place. They cared nothing about the paper or they would have subscribed through the regular channels in the first place.

Advertisers are looking more and more into the methods behind claims of "quantity" circulation. In many cities retail merchants' associations prohibit the holding of newspaper contests, for the brunt of the contest usually falls upon merchants. They have to pay out money to all contestants and they know that the circulation obtained in this manner has no value to them as advertisers.

ENGLAND'S REPLY TO U. S. PROTESTNot Responsible For Use of Neutral Flag.*PRACTICE NOT GENERAL ONE.

London Foreign Office Holds Flying of Noncombatant Ensign by British Vessels Does Not Make It Accountable For Losses to Neutrals.

WAR SUMMARY

German submarines torpedoed two steamers, one a Norwegian ship off Folkstone, the other a French steamer off Dieppe. Both managed to make port. The French vessel was badly damaged. A Norwegian ship was sunk by a mine in the Baltic sea.

England answered the American note concerning the use of neutral flags, saying the American flag was used on Lusitania to save lives of noncombatant crew and passengers and asserting it has no intention of advising merchant ships to use foreign flags except to escape capture or destruction.

The Wilhelmmina's cargo must go to a prize court, is announced in another note of England to the United States. This foreshadows British action of declaring all foodstuffs absolute contraband.

Indecisive fighting continues in all land war theaters, with claims of successes by both sides.

London, Feb. 20.—The British foreign office issued a note in reply to the representations of the United States government concerning the use of the American flag by British vessels.

The note says that the Cunard line steamer Lusitania on its recent voyage from New York to Liverpool raised the American flag to save the lives of noncombatants, crew and passengers.

It adds that in spite of the fact that American passengers embarking on the Lusitania on its outward voyage for New York asked that the American flag be hoisted, "The British government did not give any advice to the company as to how to meet this request and it is understood the Lusitania left Liverpool under the British flag."

After discussing the Lusitania incident the memorandum makes this statement:

"The British government has no intention of advising its merchant shipping to use foreign flags as a general practice or to resort to them otherwise than for escaping capture or destruction."

In conclusion the statement says: "The obligation upon a belligerent warship to ascertain definitely for itself the nationality and character of a merchant vessel before capturing it and a fortiori (stronger reason) before sinking and destroying it has been universally recognized."

If that obligation is fulfilled the hoisting of a neutral flag on board a British vessel cannot possibly endanger neutral shipping and the British government holds that if loss to neutrals is caused by disregarding this obligation it is upon the enemy vessel disregarding and upon the government giving orders that it should be disregarded, that the full responsibility for injury to neutrals ought to rest."

COURSE NOT YET DECIDED ON

U. S. Officials Discuss Peril to Shipping, Due to Berlin's Reply.

Washington, Feb. 20.—President Wilson and his cabinet discussed at length the dangers to American vessels and commerce growing out of the reiterated determination of the German government to wage a warfare of submarines and mines on enemy vessels, disclaiming all responsibility for what might happen to neutral vessels venturing into the new sea zones of war.

Canvass of cabinet officers disclosed that the administration regarded the developments of the last few days as of grave importance. Members of the cabinet declined to predict what would be the course of the United States. Some pointed out that in every serious situation in international affairs much discretion was vested in the president and that his action would necessarily be guided by the circumstances of each case if any attacks on American vessels occurred.

WHY CAPT. HYSLOP IS NATIVE

Ocean Gate Saved County's Representative from Being British Subject.

The story of how Great Britain lost a loyal subject and America gained one all on account of an ocean gale, is told in the recital of the life history of "Captain" Charles Hyslop, Nodaway county's state representative, by Herbert F. McDougal of the St. Joseph Gazette as follows:

Capt. Charles Hyslop, representative from Nodaway county, was born on American soil, thanks to a favoring gale. It was back in the days when ships sailed instead of steamed, and the sailing happened to be good that time, so the Hyslops were here when the stork arrived.

The family came from Galloway, Scotland, and Hyslop, senior, who was a shepherd went into the sheep business in Penyan, N. Y. He didn't like New York so very well, so he moved to Carthage, Ill., making the overland trip in easy stages and driving a flock of sheep along.

Young Hyslop grew up in Carthage, reveled in the Lincoln-Douglas campaigns, cast his first vote for Lincoln, and counts Lincoln and Thomas H. Benton—Whig, though Hyslop, Sr., was—as the two greatest influences in his life. He counts that day back in Carthage when he crowded his way through the throngs to the speaker's stand and grasped Lincoln's hand, as the very proudest of his life. Lincoln uttered just two words, "My son," but the captain can hear them yet.

Capt. Hyslop went to war and served for two years in the Black Hawk cavalry and in the Seventh Missouri, to which he was transferred.

After the war he became an apriarian and for ten years lived on milk and honey, or least on honey. When he came to Missouri and Nodaway county on St. Valentine's day, 1874, he brought along two carloads of bees and started the industry in that county. For five years he lived by the sweat of his brows and then he went into the exclusive boot and shoe business, establishing the first store of the sort in Maryville. Since then he has been in the insurance and real estate business, waxing well to do and owning apartment houses and the like. He gets his title from the fact that Gov. Crittenden commissioned him captain of Company F, Fourth regiment, N. G. M., and he still holds that commission, although not active in military life any more. He is serving his first term in the legislature, and had a hard race to get here, his majority being 2.

Mrs. Ernest Lyon, living near Bedison, is visiting in this city with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Swinford.

COUNTY VALUES $70,822 HIGHER

TOTAL ASSESSMENT 1914 GIVES $369,379 REALTY INCREASE.

PERSONAL PROPERTY LESS BY $298,557

Complete 1914 Abstract Gives Nodaway's Wealth at $15,442,789—Represents Fourth of Real Value.

Nodaway county real estate and personal property was assessed at $15,442,789, or $70,822 more than in 1913, according to a complete abstract, finished this morning by County Clerk Fred J. Yeomans and Deputy Calvin Burch. The real estate values are increased by $369,379 over 1913, but the personal decrease of $298,557 pulled the total county increase down considerably. The land is valued at an average of $17.37.

But the assessment figures, according to county officials, generally average but about one-fourth of the real values, so that where land is assessed at $15 an acre it would in reality bring $60 or more. The total real estate assessment in 1914 was $11,484,241, compared to $11,114,862 in 1913, while the personal holdings went from $4,257,105 in 1913 down to $3,958,548 last year.

BUILD NEW BRIDGE

STEEL SPAN PROVIDED ACROSS NODAWAY CHANNEL.

TO FINISH IN 60 DAYS 'NO GULFS IN CHURCH'

WHI Rush Work—Court Decides to Let Present "Bent" Structure Across Old Bed Remain.

A new 108-foot span steel bridge to cost $2,642 will replace, within sixty days, the present temporary wooden trestle which spans the new channel of the Nodaway river between Clearmont and Elmo. This decision was made this afternoon by the county court at a special meeting. The original plan to transfer the present steel bridge across the old river bed to the new channel, and build a wooden trestle across the old bed was abandoned because of the large volume of water which still flows that way.

The new county bridge will be built by the Decatur Bridge company of Kansas City. Work will begin as soon as material can be placed on the ground, according to George D. Campbell, western contracting agent of the Decatur company, who was present today. A forfeit of $5 per day for each day the bridge remains unfinished after sixty days from today is provided in the contract.

"It is our intention to complete the structure just as quickly as possible, regardless of a forfeit clause," said Mr. Campbell. "It is only because work of this kind is slack at this time of year, and many of our workmen are idle or are working part time that we can make the bid as cheaply as we have."

The contract provides that everything shall be furnished by the bridge company, including all labor and material. It provides for an 18-foot steel approach and a 40-foot earth embankment in addition at each end. The bridge is to be fourteen feet wide and of best grade of bridge steel and flooring.

Three other bids for erecting a new bridge were submitted this afternoon. One was but $6 below the accepted bid. They were: Standard Bridge company, Omaha, $2,659; Kansas City Bridge company, Kansas City, $2,699; Midland Bridge company, Kansas City, $2,900.

The present wooden trestle across the new channel near Elmo is now out of commission, having been washed partly out by the floods of this week. Another county structure across the channel north of Clearmont can be repaired, according to J. M. Blackford, presiding judge of the county court.

Five bids were submitted this morning to the county court on the proposition to transfer the steel bridge, now over the old Nodaway river bed, to the new channel, and change the present wooden trestle over the ditch to the old river channel. The bid of the lowest bidder, the Red Oak Bridge and Iron works of Red Oak, Ia., was declared by Judge Blackford to be reasonable. It was deemed advisable, however, to let the present steel bridge remain and build a new one over the new ditch.

Bids also were submitted by Charles Hollenshee, Pickering; Midland Bridge company, Kansas City; Decatur Bridge company, and the Kansas City Bridge company.

The steel bridge now under construction across the Nodaway river where the counties of Nodaway, Holt and Andrew converge, is the only other county bridge now under way. Work on it has been delayed for a week or more on account of the high water in the Nodaway at present. In fact, progress on the construction of the tri-county structure has been extremely slow at all times.

Direct Conversation New York and Washington to 'Frisco Marks New Feat

The most remarkable feat in the history of telephony probably was accomplished a few days ago, in the opinion of W. E. Jones, traffic manager of the Hanover Telephone company, when a direct conversation was held from New York to San Francisco and from Washington to 'Frisco.

One man, not himself an electrician nor telephone expert, but a mere mathematician, alone in the Rockies studied out an improvement in wire transmission, which made possible this recently accomplished feat, according to Mr. Jones. That man was the one who invented the double circuit system and its means of holding the sound waves at a standard throughout the transmission.

Some idea of the immense amount of work and expenses necessary to bring about such a feat is explained in statistics furnished by Mr. Jones. It shows that the line proper is 3,370 miles long but that 13,600 miles of hard-drawn copper wire were used to form the double physical circuit, necessary to maintain the transmission sounds at a certain strength.

A total of 130,000 poles were used through the swamps, deserts and over mountains and plains on which to string the 13,600 miles of wire, weighing 2,360 tons. Officials of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, which constructed the trans-continental line, say the line will be ready for commercial use by March 1.

The rates have been estimated at $20.70 for the first three minutes and $6.75 for each additional minute. It is further estimated that when a circuit is carrying a message from New York to San Francisco about $2,000,000 worth of apparatus will be in exclusive use.

In speaking of the feat, an official of the company said: "It was not a concrete problem that confronted our engineers. It was a problem for a lone inventor working in an attic. It was literally a problem to be attacked all along the line. Without the expenditure of millions of dollars and concentration of effort the telephone as it exists could not have been devoted.

EXHIBIT OF WIDE RANGE.

Missouri's Offering at 'Frisco Fair Includes Education, Arts and Industries.

Missouri's exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco, which opens today, will cover education, mining, live stock, agriculture, horticulture and fine arts, it was announced yesterday by the commission.

In the palace of education the state will have an exhibit showing by mechanical devices the interesting system of decentralized education. A specially prepared map, covering 80 square feet of space, will be used to show the progress of many of the leading high schools of the state during the last twenty years. Schools and college life will be illustrated in moving pictures.

A library of old and new books by Missouri authors will be another feature of the educational exhibit. This will be in the Missouri building.

In the palace of horticulture, Missouri's display of fine fruit will be a rival to California's. Connected with this exhibit will be a display shown in jars, including all kinds of fruits, flowers, nuts and vegetables.

Samples of Missouri soils from every county in the state also will be shown in this exhibit.

In the palace of mines Missouri will occupy a prominent place with the display of lead, zinc, iron, coal and other minerals.

Missouri live stock and the wonderful Missouri hen will be the feature exhibit. Specimens of the state's splendid saddle horse, the Missouri mule, fine beef and dairy cattle and other animals that are adding to the wealth of the state will be shown.

Missouri's building and exhibits will cost the state about $150,000, and the value to the people of the state, from an advertising standpoint, may be estimated at millions.

The Missouri state commissioners having in charge the Missouri building and exhibits, who will look after the state's affairs at the exposition are John L. McNatt of Aurora, W. D. Smith of Princeton, J. A. Cunningham of Catherinesville, W. A. Dallmyer of Jefferson City and Norman M. Vaughn of St. Louis.

To Manage Fowl Exhibits.

T. E. Quisenberry director of the state poultry experiment station at Mountain Grove, has been chosen as manager of the poultry department of the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco. Mr. Quisenberry is recognized as one of the foremost poultry authorities in the country, having held high offices in state poultry organizations and shows for a number of years. His appointment as head of the poultry department came to him unsolicited.

FRATERNITY IN GOD

came to his house." When Christ goes home with us and the sinner opens the door and bids him enter, only then is the life changed. "If any man be in Christ he is a new creature." Universalism teaches that one does not have to be a new creature and that there are no gulfs that divide. Christ bridges the gulfs from this world to the next and to pass over through Him is to come in touch with His cleansing blood, which can be applied only through faith and obedience.

No Need of Universalism.

"Said an old Quaker to a Universalist preacher who desired to leave an appointment for a return sermon, 'If what thou hast said be true, we don't need thee; if false, we don't want thee.' If all men are to be saved anyway, irrespective of character or life, why make a great ado about nothing?" After hearing a discourse by a Universalist, in which he declared all men are to be saved, an old man arose in the audience and read from the last chapter of Revelations:

"Blessed are they who do His commandments that they may enter in through the gates into the city, for without are sorcerers and fornicators and murderers and idolaters, and every one that loveth and maketh a lie." Said the aged man: "In the last chapter of the last book in the last verses of the Bible God makes a division and puts evil men out of the city of God, and I would like to see you ar any other man put them in again." The argument is conclusive. Let no man be lulled into false security by such a specious plea."

A Correction.

The item appearing in the Sunrise correspondence in the Tribune, February 2, and also in The Democrat-Farm, referring to an organization in that community known as the "Bully Idea" is entirely without foundation and was given to the Sunrise correspondent by some person who took advantage of the confidence of the correspondent. It is a kind of underhand work that meets the strongest condemnation of all good people, and the author has plenty of reason to be heartily ashamed of himself.

(Signed) ALBERT NEIDEL.

All newspapers have such cases as this to contend with, and so far no editor has ever found a thoroughly satisfactory way of expressing the true estimate of a person who considers such courtesy a joke. When we are taken advantage of, as in the above case, and print an item sent in by a person whom we judge to be "on the square" we are glad to make the correction when the case proves to have been otherwise.

BAR DEAD HOG SHIPMENTSGovernment Rules Stockmen Must Not Send "Soap" Swine on Railroads.

Burlington railroad agents are in receipt of a circular from the division superintendent announcing a recent ruling of the inspector in charge of the bureau of animal industry at St. Joseph. This ruling pertains to the custom of loading dead hogs on cars including them in stock shipments.

Frequently hogs die after they are brought to town, if they were sick before starting, and it has been customary to load them on the cars, to be disposed of in St. Joseph for soap.

However several cases of hog cholera have been brought into St. Joseph stock yards recently and for this reason, the inspector has ruled that dead hogs cannot be unloaded there, but must be burned or buried by the railroad company at their own expense.

Artillery Batteries on Both Sides of Golden Gate Acclaim Opening of Panama-Pacific International Exposition—Splendid Ceremonies Attend.

San Francisco, Feb. 20.—Dawn today in San Francisco was acclaimed by sounds of artillery batteries on both sides of the Golden Gate, and from the warships at anchor in the bay. Five minutes later twenty drum corps rolled and swaggered through the streets, shrilling to all the town a call to rise and welcome the opening of the Panama-Pacific International exposition.

There was a parade almost without spectators. By tens of thousands, in societies and fraternities, and various brotherhoods and business organizations, the people were in line. At the California building they met the president and vice president of the exposition, the directors, the national exposition commission, the woman's board, representatives of the army and navy and others.

These marched down the Avenue of Palms, escorted by exposition guards, United States marines and the exposition band, to the temporary grandstand erected in front of the Tower of Jewels.

As they took their places, Governor Johnson of California, Mayor Ralph of San Francisco and officers of the state and city entered the grounds. The citizens assembled in the concourse, while the governor, the mayor, and their parties passed through a lane of soldiers and marines to the stand where the president and directors of the exposition received them.

Five minutes later the dedicatory ceremonies began. Invocations and a benediction were pronounced by clergymen representing the Roman Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths. Addresses were delivered by President Moore, Secretary Lane of the department of the interior, representing President Wilson; Governor Johnson, Mayor Ralph and others.

Hands Moore Scroll.

William Crocker, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, formally announced to President Moore that the exposition was opened, at the same time presenting to him a gold scroll commemorating the occasion.

After the exercises had been concluded President Moore called President Wilson in Washington on a long distance telephone line at noon and notified him that the exposition awaited his touch to be opened. The president touched a button, a wireless spark flashed through the air across the continent and on its receipt the national colors were raised, salutes were given, the fountain of energy leaped up with all the whistles in the city blowing, and the main door of the Palace of Machinery was swung open, disclosing the exhibits in motion.

Free Automobiles and Free Trips

SOME newspapers in order to build up a "quantity" circulation resort to the use of "popularity" contests in which free automobiles, gold watches, and various trips are offered as prizes.

The newspaper publisher who listens to the alluring story of the professional contest promoter, overlooks the main element in news paper circulation.

Quantity circulation is of no particular value to either publisher or newspaper advertiser. The reason for this is that "quantity" circulation when not backed up by quality is of no particular value to anybody.

Contest circulation violates all the principles of salesmanship. The contestant who solicits subscribers for a newspaper in order that she may win a prize of some kind, does the publication no good because she does not sell the paper on its merits as a paper. She takes subscriptions from persons who care nothing about the paper. Such persons usually have the paper sent to friends or relatives in distant communities who care nothing about it or the news or advertisements it may contain.

If a publication has any merit at all, why does it not sell itself as a newspaper? The newspaper that holds a contest once is pretty certain to be compelled to hold another.

Permanent subscribers are the life of a newspaper. Contest subscribers never stick. They paid their money to help somebody win a trip to Halifax or some other place. They cared nothing about the paper or they would have subscribed through the regular channels in the first place.

Advertisers are looking more and more into the methods behind claims of "quantity" circulation. In many cities retail merchants' associations prohibit the holding of newspaper contests, for the brunt of the contest usually falls upon merchants. They have to pay out money to all contestants and they know that the circulation obtained in this manner has no value to them as advertisers.

ENGLAND'S REPLY
TO U.S. PROTEST*Not Responsible For Use of Neutral Flag.*PRACTICE NOT GENERAL ONE.

London Foreign Office Holds Flying of Noncombatant Ensign by British Vessels Does Not Make It Accountable For Losses to Neutrals.

WAR SUMMARY

German submarines torpedoed two steamers, one a Norwegian ship off Folkestone, the other a French steamer off Dieppe. Both managed to make port. The French vessel was badly damaged. A Norwegian ship was sunk by a mine in the Baltic sea.

England answered the American note concerning the use of neutral flags, saying the American flag used on Lusitania to save lives of noncombatants crew and passengers and asserting it has no intention of advising merchant ships to use foreign flags except to escape capture or destruction.

The Wilhelmina's cargo must go to a prize court, is announced in another note of England to the United States. This foreshadows British action of declaring all foodstuffs absolute contraband.

Indecisive fighting continues in all land war theaters, with claims of successes by both sides.

London, Feb. 20.—The British foreign office issued a note in reply to the representations of the United States government concerning the use of the American flag by British vessels.

The note says that the Cunard Line steamer Lusitania on its recent voyage from New York to Liverpool raised the American flag to save the lives of noncombatants, crew and passengers.

It adds that in spite of the fact that American passengers embarking on the Lusitania on its outward voyage for New York asked that the American flag be hoisted, "The British government did not give any advice to the company as to how to meet this request and it is understood the Lusitania left Liverpool under the British flag."

After discussing the Lusitania incident the memorandum makes this statement:

"The British government has no intention of advising its merchant shipping to use foreign flags as a general practice or to resort to them otherwise than for escaping capture or destruction."

In conclusion the statement says:

"The obligation upon a belligerent warship to ascertain definitely for itself the nationality and character of a merchant vessel before capturing it and a fortiori (stronger reason) before sinking and destroying it has been universally recognized."

If that obligation is fulfilled the hoisting of a neutral flag on board a British vessel cannot possibly endanger neutral shipping and the British government holds that if loss to neutrals is caused by disregarding this obligation it is upon the enemy vessel disregarding and upon the government giving orders that it should be disregarded, that the full responsibility for injury to neutrals ought to rest."

U. S. Officials Discuss Peril to Shipping, Due to Berlin's Reply.

Washington, Feb. 20.—President Wilson and his cabinet discussed at length the dangers to American vessels and commerce growing out of the reiterated determination of the German government to wage a warfare of submarines and mines on enemy vessels, disclaiming all responsibility for what might happen to neutral vessels venturing into the new sea zones of war.

Canvass of cabinet officers disclosed that the administration regarded the developments of the last few days as of grave importance. Members of the cabinet declined to predict what would be the course of the United States. Some pointed out that in every serious situation in international affairs much discretion was vested in the president and that his action would necessarily be guided by the circumstances of each case if any attacks on American vessels occurred.

WHY CAPT. HYSLOP IS NATIVE

Ocean Gale Saved County's Representative from Being British Subject.

The story of how Great Britain lost a loyal subject and America gained one all on account of an ocean gale, is told in the recital of the life history of "Captain" Charles Hyslop, Nodaway county's state representative, by Herbert F. McDougal of the St. Joseph Gazette as follows:

Capt. Charles Hyslop, representative from Nodaway county, was born on American soil, thanks to a favoring gale. It was back in the days when ships sailed instead of steamed, and the sailing happened to be good that time, so the Hyslops were here when the stork arrived.

The family came from Galloway, Scotland, and Hyslop, senior, who was a shepherd went into the sheep business in Penyan, N. Y. He didn't like New York so very well, so he moved to Carthage, Ill., making the overland trip in easy stages and driving a flock of sheep along.

Young Hyslop grew up in Carthage, reveled in the Lincoln-Douglas campaigns, cast his first vote for Lincoln, and counts Lincoln and Thomas H. Benton—Whig, though Hyslop, Sr., was—as the two greatest influences in his life. He counts that day back in Carthage when he crowded his way through the throngs to the speaker's stand and grasped Lincoln's hand, as the very proudest of his life. Lincoln uttered just two words, "My son," but the captain can hear them yet.

Capt. Hyslop went to war and served for two years in the Black Hawk cavalry and in the Seventh Missouri, to which he was transferred.

After the war he became an apriarian and for ten years lived on milk and honey, or least on honey. When he came to Missouri and Nodaway county on St. Valentine's day, 1874, he brought along two carloads of bees and started the industry in that county. For five years he lived by the sweat of his brows and then he went into the exclusive boot and shoe business, establishing the first store of the sort in Maryville. Since then he has been in the insurance and real estate business, waxing well to do and owning apartment houses and the like. He gets his title from the fact that Gov. Crittenden commissioned him captain of Company F, Fourth regiment, N. G. M., and he still holds that commission, although not active in military life any more. He is serving his first term in the legislature, and had a hard race to get here, his majority being 2.

Mrs. Ernest Lyon, living near Bedington, is visiting in this city with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Swinford.
